Autumn Mary Dorody

The Coat-of-Arms of the Toledo Ursulines is interesting for its symbolism. The original was granted to the Ursulines of Paris of the monastery of St. Jacques in 1607 by Henry IV, King of France. The left side of the shield, which is azure or sky blue, speaks of heaven, justice, loyalty, and beauty. The initials of Jesus (IHS) and Mary (M) blended between a cross and three Passion Nails, are surrounded by a gold halo of glory. A double star of four points is above the halo. The foremost star represents the four vows of the Ursuline Nuns: Poverty, Chastity, Obedience, and Instruction of Youth. The star behind this represents the life of contemplation which supports the active life of the Ursulines. Historically, the fleurs-de-lys recall the first raising of an Ursuline house to a monastery, which occurred at Paris and the fact that Henry IV granted it the fleurs-de-lys of the royal arms. They indicate the spiritual and wholly virginal maternity of St. Angela and her daughters regarding souls.

The right side of the shield is silver symbolizing light, life, innocence, virginity, faith, and joy. The green, sturdy laurel tree speaks of hope, victory, and immortality. "Ursula Laurus" is the ancient badge of the order of St. Ursula who won her laurel of immortality in martyrdom. The cross symbolizes undying faith; the arrow points to heaven, directing the intentions heavenward. The Holy Spirit is hovering above the vigorously growing tree and covers it with His shadow. The tower and buckeye belong to the Toledo house particularly. The tower symbolizes Toledo, Spain, for which Toledo, Ohio, is named, and the buckeye is for the State of Ohio. The celestial crown and star represents the eternal reward, for "those who instruct many unto justice shall shine as stars for all eternity."

The Ursuline motto, "Soli Deo Gloria" ("Glory to God Alone") is emblazoned across the top. In this one succinct statement we find the resumé of the work of St. Angela and also of the life and work of the Ursuline Nuns.

FROM GOD TO MAN

. . . and for the Future

. . . the Ursuline girl looks toward the plans that will continue the heritage and broaden the scope of Ursuline influence. To facilitate this work of education the Ursulines began a building program in May, 1953. Plans have been made to complete the present campus on Collingwood Boulevard and also to construct a new academy building on Kenwood Boulevard. The success of the Ursulines in Toledo for the past one hundred years has been proved by the unselfish co-operation of the citizens in this project.

Our Bishop

During the four years of his residence in our diocese, Bishop Rehring has become a familiar and loved figure in our lives. We of St. Ursula Academy especially have benefited from his reassuring presence at our religious ceremonies as well as his inspiring sermons.

Toledoans have come to recognize his gentle manner and the frequent walks which typify his daily routine. Even small children feel at ease with him and look forward to meeting this friendly apostle of Christ.

The Bishop was ordained in 1914, served a professorship at Mount St. Mary Seminary in Cincinnati, and came to Toledo in 1950 to become our fourth Bishop.

Outstanding among Bishop Rehring's ecclesiastical efforts is the support which he has so generously given to the current Ursuline Development Program. His enthusiastic promotion of this drive will long be remembered in the hearts of the students and faculty.

How fortunate we are to have such a zealous leader to guide the people through these uncertain times!

Most Reverend George J. Rehring
Bishop of Toledo

Our Chaplain

Reverend Francis P. McCartin,
O.M.I.

This year we again welcome Father Francis P. McCartin as our chaplain. After six years of absence he has returned to St. Ursula Academy complete with that famous Eastern accent. Father has presided over the various spiritual ceremonies as well as attended social activities.

The juniors and seniors are well prepared to face life in the adult world as the result of his extensive teaching. Father McCartin has the gift of making his classes interesting, and at the same time of leaving valuable impressions on students' minds. For personifying all that Christ teaches, Father deserves the everlasting gratitude of this student body.

Dedication..to the Ursuline Nuns

In honor of their one hundred years in Toledo, Ohio, we, the Senior Class, dedicate the 1954 SCROLL to the Ursuline Nuns of the Convent of the Sacred Heart.

For their consistent effort to educate young girls for Christian womanhood, we wish to express our sincere appreciation.

In the course of their teaching years in our city the nuns have succeeded in living the nine counsels of Saint Angela Merici, foundress of the Order of Saint Ursula:

Humble yourself, and you will be exalted.

Use discretion and kindness in the treatment of your Daughters.

Be submissive and obedient to your Superiors.

Be sensitive to the spiritual and temporal needs of your Daughters and never despair of God's constancy.

Guide and inspire your Daughters and Sisters; counsel them to seek the things that are above.

Set blameless examples that they may model themselves after you.

Shield your flock from the bad influence of worldly people and heretics.

Take all your Daughters to your heart and bear with them all equally.

Live in harmony united all with one heart and one will.

May the strength and true comfort of the Holy Spirit be in you all, so that you may be able to uphold and to carry on manfully and faithfully the enterprise which you have undertaken and that you may look forward to the great reward which God has prepared for you.

Saint Angela Merici
Foundress of the Order of Saint Ursula

The Faculty

The formation of a complete Christian personality is the objective of education by Saint Ursula's faculty. Such important points as Christian piety and becoming manners are well emphasized in this program. Because of their own educations, the faculty are well prepared to fulfill their purpose, and in the persons of the instructors many colleges and universities are represented.

Saint Ursula Academy strives to mold the Christian personality in every way. A liberal academic curriculum is offered, thus contributing both practical and cultural features in a basic education. Through these studies and extra-curricular activities the Ursuline girl receives an integrated development in her relationship with God, man, and the universe.

Underclassmen...

THE CROSS symbolizes undying faith. The entire curriculum is planned to help the student reach the eternal goal toward which she strives.

JUNIORS

As September inevitably does, September 1953 rolled around. Seventy-two girls, eagerly looking forward to their third year in high school, returned to SUA. As upperclassmen, school life took on a new look for them.

A class meeting was held in October. At this meeting, the class, under the able direction of the officers and the home room teachers, planned all the activities for the year.

In February, they presented to the student body an amusing assembly, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

The future journalists produced the junior issue of the URSULINE. The class energetically sold tickets for the senior class play.

In March the juniors received their class rings, an event which made them feel like true upperclassmen.

Tradition-wise, the class planned the Junior-Senior Prom for April 19. It was a marvelous success and the evening found many girls and their escorts dancing to the music of Jimmy Len's orchestra.

The class sponsored a Mission Day, May 12. The day was dedicated to both the spiritual and social aspect of the missions.

Culminating their year, the girls sang at the graduation exercises.

SOPHOMORES

With a year of high school life already behind them the class of "56" returned to SUA prepared for the work and fun which the coming year would bring. These "sophisticated sophomores" arrived with the realization that they would get out of school only what they put into it and with the determination to make this year more profitable and enjoyable for all.

On initiation day the sophomores proudly reigned over the "Freshies." Their subjects were seen buzzing about the school obediently waiting on their merciless mistresses. As always the freshmen displayed a fine spirit of sportsmanship.

On October 21, the feast of St. Ursula, the sophomores were hostesses at the traditional breakfast in our newly modernized Urban Hall. "Youth With Faith" was the theme carried out.

The sophomore history classes presented a very delightful assembly for the entire student body. It was a musical comedy with educational features.

The sophomores have done especially well in the tax stamp drive, the mission projects, and the Catholic Chronicle drive.

In March, which is vocation month, the sophomores presented a program, dealing with the choice of a religious vocation.

FRESHMEN

When the freshmen first entered the portals of SUA in September, they were shy and a little bit frightened. But now, after nine months of high school life, they have become acquainted with the ways of the Ursuline girl.

In October they dramatized the promise of the Sacred Heart to St. Margaret Mary in an effective presentation to the student body.

The girls displayed their good sportsmanship on initiation day by pleasantly accepting the traditional duties forced upon them by the tyrannical sophomores.

In April, the class played host to the eighth-grade girls from the Catholic schools of the city. At this time they presented a variety show, conducted a tour of the school, and served refreshments.

The Class of '57 climaxed a successful year by capturing the basketball championship after triumphing over the other home rooms with Freshmen B the eventual school victor.

Classes ...

THE ARROW pointing to heaven directs the intentions heavenward. It represents the sanctification of the student's daily activities.

A knowledge of the past development and events of our country, foreign lands, and the ancient world offers each student a broad scope in the field of history. Included in this curriculum is the study of sociology.

Among history's subjects, American history offers each student an ample opportunity to know about the past of her country along with current events.

Many underclassmen advance their knowledge of our ancient world through their study of world history.

The events from the fifteenth century to the world wars of our present century serve as an informative basis for each modern history student.

Man living in society and the laws and problems governing it offer a most interesting study to the sociology students who collect clippings of current sociological events.

Social Studies

Jean Anthes is preparing for a current event discussion in her American History class.

Ann Marie McManus and Rita Werling are studying international news in their World History class.

The Centenary Class was the first to be introduced to the Christian Impact in English course. This proving fruitful, successive classes have also profited from the new course. To learn to contemplate the beautiful in literature and to write, speak, and listen with an informed Christian intellect is the goal the Christian Impact in English aims to accomplish for its students.

The Christian attitude of the junior English student is influenced through a more advanced study of the Catholic novel and discussions provoked by Today, a monthly Catholic magazine.

Seniors spend innumerable hours on their research essays. Fourth year survey of English literature includes the study of Macbeth.

Delving into problems of human relations, lyric poetry and the short story accounts for the intensive study of sophomore English students.

A project of the freshmen was their English notebooks which included summaries of the narrative poems studied.

Foreign

"Forsan et haec olim meminisse iuvabit" . . . Some day it will be pleasant to remember these things . . . not "unutterable grief" to renew. After translating, memorizing, and scanning Virgil's Aeneid, the fourth year Latin students have become acquainted with many characters of Greek and Roman mythology and many literary forms. The wanderings of Aeneas and the famous tale of the Trojan Horse are also important topics on the agenda for the Latin scholars.

Left to right: Miss Kaufman, Rosemarie Borchert, and Patricia Bodie

Conjugating verb schémas and studying vocabulary and grammar compose the daily course of the second-year French class. To apply their knowledge of the language and to experience variety the girls read French dialogues and sing entertaining melodies.

By studying Spanish the girls learn the exciting language of one of our nearest foreign countries, Mexico. They develop it by reciting their class prayers and answering questions in Spanish. The students observe Pan-American Day, which is set aside for information on the use of the Spanish language and customs in the Latin-American countries. As they study the vocabulary, the would-be señoritas perceive the Spanish-English cognates.

Languages

First-year German students become familiarized with one of the most useful modern languages. In their initial year they learn vocabulary and the essential rules of grammar, including a brief glance at German geography. During the various holidays they sing the traditional songs and study the corresponding customs. Striving to perfect their German pronunciation, they carry on humorous and interesting German conversations in class.

Left to right: Marilyn Wilhelm, Kathleen Hoffman, Diane Jacobs, and Roberta Kuhn

Along with the excitement and novelty of entering high school, the freshmen also experience the thrill of a new language, Latin. They study the vocabulary words and later learn to conjugate the verbs and to decline the nouns.

Our student body is usually greeted with "Wie geht es Ihnen heute" by their German student friends. By the second year the girls not only learn to translate the traditional legends, but they can also speak the language fluently. The class also enjoys wearing the colorful peasant clothes while they engage in German folk customs, such as the dancing which took place in old Germany and the singing of popular and conventional songs.

Science

Chemistry provides interesting information concerning the composition of substances and the processes which transform them. The girls accomplished various projects such as soap, metal, and fiber-glass displays. Movies were shown which involved the study of Dupont's life and his products.

Our biology laboratory, consisting of over one hundred specimens, affords many hours of intriguing study. The girls divide their time between acquiring knowledge of the living habits of animals and viewing the actual models. The proof of their diligence is displayed in polished individual projects.

Music Appreciation

The Music Appreciation class instills a better understanding and love for the art of music. The class expressed a deep interest in opera, concentrating on La Bohème, Carmen, and Aïda. Ballet Suites of Petrouchka and Coppelia, recorded on phonograph records, were heard in class. Symphonies also played an important part in the year's activities. The history of church music, with an extensive study of Gregorian Chant, was undertaken. In 600 A.D. Saint Gregory established this chant which is used in the Catholic Churches today. The lives of Mozart, Haydn, and Handel, the classic composers; and Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, and Wagner, the romantic composers, were also studied. To create an appreciation of more primitive forms, folk music of other nations was added to the course.

This year the Home Economics students had the privilege of learning both prenatal and postnatal care in their Home Nursing course. They discovered that it takes an abundance of love and understanding from both the father and mother to rear the child properly. The girls also attained a basic knowledge of the causes and treatments of childhood diseases.

Besides acquiring the skill to rear and train their children, a further study of home-making is needed. They divide their time between making appetizing dishes and creating the latest styles in dress both for themselves and their younger brothers and sisters.

To take care of the contingencies of family life the future mothers received a course in First Aid.

A dab of oil paint and a stroke of the sketching pencil signifies one form of self-expression known as art. The course consists of four years. First and second year art deals with composition, art appreciation, textiles, and ceramics. The third year progresses into graphic advertising, block printing, and figure composition. As the student attains the fourth year of study with a basic background of art, she attempts more mature projects including interior decorating, sculpture, bas-relief plaques, and oil paintings.

Special attention and direction is given to the individual student, enabling her to reproduce the beauty of matter and instilling in her a true appreciation and judgment of the beautiful which will remain with her and assist her in all that she endeavors.

Father McCartin and a senior religion class

As in all previous years of the Academy's existence, spiritual training is greatly emphasized through a four-year religion course. Students profit from more advanced knowledge of Catholicity so that they may be better prepared to practice their faith.

Father McCartin is one of the junior religion teachers, and he gives special instruction on marriage to the seniors. Remaining students are instructed by the sisters. There is a major objective for each year; the central theme for this entire course is "Our Quest for Happiness."

Fortunate are the offices which receive our business-minded students. In their classes the girls learn to take shorthand from dictation, and in order to speed their typing ability they practice to the rhythm of phonograph records. The accuracy needed to run a business is acquired by the girls from their tedious work in obtaining the right answers to mathematical problems. All students are required to take two years of mathematics, and in the business curriculum one or two years are offered according to the individual's preference.

Activities . . .

THE DOVE, the Holy Spirit, hovers over the student body and covers it with His shadow of inspiration.

St. Ursula's Day

Queen of the Holy Rosary Cathedral was the scene of the annual Mass and Communion of the student body to pay tribute to the patroness of their school. The Mass was celebrated by the Reverend Francis P. McCartin.

The sophomores under Sister Mary Vincent's direction were hostesses at the breakfast carrying out the theme of National Catholic Youth Week, "America's Hope — Youth With Faith."

The student league meeting was conducted by the senior class president, Patricia Schnapp. The minutes, the Constitution of the Student League, and a short narrative on the life of St. Ursula followed. Plans for the various activities on the campus were explained to the students in very clear and interesting speeches by the representatives.

Missions

Mission activities were again brought into the spotlight at St. Ursula this year. The girls put forth every effort to support the CSMC under the patronage of St. Francis Xavier and St. Therese, the Little Flower.

Mission meetings were held monthly under the guidance of Sister Mary Ita, SUA mission moderator, and Judith Schlagheck, president of the St. Ursula CSMC organization. During Advent, the girls were successful in selling Christmas wrapping paper, cards, and Holy Childhood Seals and showed holiday spirit in giving presents for DP children, who were entertained at a Christmas party held at the Catholic Club. Special Lenten collections were made in the homerooms; these included the Penny-A-Day collections. A mission prayer day with the giving of Paladin awards and an amateur contest were held in May.

Religious Committees

The Eucharistic Committee's aim was to bring students into a closer union with Our Lord through the reception of His Sacraments. An attractive and varied bulletin board display urged the students to more fervent prayer.

This year the SUA girls took part in a well rounded religious program. Our Lady's Committee was outstanding in its promotion of the noon rosary and first Saturday devotions. The committee also supplied pamphlets for both the senior and school retreats.

Legion of Mary

The Legion of Mary members again helped at St. Vincent's Hospital, St. Anthony's Orphanage, and the Opportunity Home in addition to furthering devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary. The junior and senior praesidia of the legion held their Acies ceremony on March 22.

Legion of Mary members leave for a Marian Year Pilgrimage.

May Crowning

The virtues of Mary Immaculate are reflected especially during her month of May. Appropriately this time was chosen to pay homage to our Mother through the ceremonies of the traditional May Crowning. The entire student body participated in the ceremonies. During these ceremonies the May Queen, Rose Mary Gribbin, and her attendants, Diane Naumann and Mary McGahey, led a procession over the campus. At this time the Litany of the Blessed Virgin was chanted.

The May Queen placed the floral crown upon the head of the statue of the Blessed Mother of God, signifying that Mary, as Queen, reigns supreme in our hearts. On this May 28, the student body was again able to pay tribute to Mary during the Marian Year.

Retreats

The Reverend John O'Brien, S.J., conducted the school retreats this year. Because of an increased enrollment of the student body, two separate retreats were given, the senior retreat in February and the school retreat in March. Father's great devotion to the Sacred Heart influenced his choice for a retreat theme for both groups. Each of the three days was devoted to one of the members of the Holy Family.

His excellent meditation on the Passion was presented in a strikingly real light. It provided many ideas for further thought. In all conferences, Father inspired a real love for God rather than a fear of Him.

The simplicity with which Father O'Brien talked made a lasting impression on the minds of the students.

Senior Trip

On Saturday, March 27, at 7:00 p.m., a group of excited seniors boarded the "Ambassador Limited" with mingled feelings of enthusiasm and anticipation, for they were going on the annual senior trip to Washington, D. C. The next morning they arrived at Baltimore, Maryland, to attend Mass at the Cathedral and to tour Fort McHenry and the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. Among the other historic and interesting places they visited were: the Franciscan Monastery, the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, the Washington Monument, Mount Vernon, and the White House.

Upon arriving home Wednesday, the seniors left the train happy with the knowledge that they had at last seen the Capital of the United States.

Betty, Pat, and Carol anxiously awaiting the train.

Camera Club

The SUA Camera Club has attempted to acquaint the academy girls with photography and its techniques. Sister M. Dorothy served as advisor for the club and helped the girls with their various projects.

FTA

This year the students had an opportunity to join the newly formed Future Teachers of America Club. The object of the club is to acquaint its members with the teaching profession. A highlight in the club's function was an informative lecture given by Miss Irene O'Brien, a teacher at Scott High School, during one of the monthly meetings.

Academy Council

Parents of the Ursuline girls have an opportunity to show their interest in the welfare of the school by becoming members of the St. Ursula Academy Council, a parent-teacher organization.

The council's aim is for a more harmonious relationship between the faculty of St. Ursula Academy and the parents of the students. Meetings of this group are both social and educational.

Student Council

The Senior Class of 1954 has introduced a Student Council to the activities program at St. Ursula Academy. The executive board of the council has drawn up a Constitution for the organization and has begun work on a complete handbook of rules for the school.

The senior class officers and the underclass presidents constitute the executive board. The council is made up of each homeroom representative and club president.

Boosters' Club

For the second year the Booster Club again proved to be a great success with the volunteers achieving their goal of eighty-five freshmen. With Ellaine Chance as chairman, student boosters interviewed eighth-grade girls, conducted campus tours, and assisted recruits to register. Boosters were rewarded with Danny Thomas Show tickets.

Paladin Club

The Paladin Club is an auxiliary of the CSMC in the Academy. Under Sister Mary Ita, moderator, Jeanette Stanley is chairman, and Kathleen Hoffman is the scribe.

The purpose of this organization is to help the missions by prayer, sacrifice, and implanting the true mission spirit.

A hush fell over the student body which had assembled at the annual St. Ursula's Day celebration in Urban Hall last October. The Centenary Class breathlessly listened for the long awaited names of the co-editors for the SCROLL. Ellyn Finn and Patricia Hurley, Sister M. Lelia announced, had been chosen as the co-editors. It was later learned that Mary Butler would be the make-up editor, and for the first time our yearbook would have its own photography editor, Nancy Huss. These four honor students, with the eager help of the section editors and their assistants, worked the next few months with diligence and perserverence.

This yearbook has a centenary theme, for the present year of nineteen hundred and fifty-four marks the one hundredth anniversary of the Ursuline Nuns' arrival in Toledo. Through the humdrum of pounding typewriters, the drawing of layouts, the planning and cropping of pictures, and general discussion and exchange of ideas until the printer returned our finished product, the staff tried to carry out this theme. Indeed, the Senior Class is proud of being the Centenary Class of 1954 and hopes its contribution to the long line of yearbooks will be worthy of the fine Ursuline tradition.

"Writing maketh an exact man." With this in mind, the co-editors of the URSULINE, Loretta Gallagher and Judith Bruss, strove to uphold the reputation of the SUA paper. Through the newspaper the girls learned many techniques of journalism. They had an opportunity to use the knowledge and skills they had gained in English and art. The staff worked diligently to maintain the good standing of the URSULINE. Success crowned their efforts when the All-American Honor Rating was awarded them by the National Scholastic Press Association.

For the second time the juniors were initiated into the Fourth Estate and took complete charge of the February issue.

As this year is the Marian Year, the seniors devoted the second and third pages of the December issue to the Blessed Virgin.

Recitals

"Music is the food of angels." But to six freshmen entering SUA in 1950, music meant hard, long hours of practice. This past semester, six seniors received diplomas from the Ursuline School of Music. Mary McGahey and Mary Louise Huss were the first of the group to give their graduation piano recital on January 8. Luette Mertz and Joan Parasiliti with the combined accompaniment of the St. Ursula and Mary Manse orchestras performed on the evening of March 22. Joanne Juhasz gave a solo performance on April 23, and Lois Hoffman, the last of the six seniors, gave an organ recital on May 17.

A Cappella Choir

The A Cappella Choir, consisting of juniors and seniors, sang its way through the year under the capable baton of Sister Marie René. One of the songs especially enjoyable was Gounod's "Ave Maria," which was sung in a two-part chorus. In a lighter mood, the Spanish song, "Cicirenella," was sung as one of the songs in the "Around The World Concert" given by the A Cappella Choir.

Orchestra

The St. Ursula Academy Orchestra, under the effective direction of Sister Jeanne Marie, has entertained the faculty and student body on numerous occasions. Memorable among its performances were the Christmas program, intermission music for the Senior Class Play, and the Mendelssohn Concerto with Luette Mertz as soloist.

Cupid's

As Cupid was tripping the light fantastic on the eve of St. Valentine's Day nineteen hundred fifty-four, couples were dancing among the balloons and paper hearts which colorfully decorated Urban Hall.

Dick Welniak and his four-piece ensemble provided music both old and new and set the mood for the evening. If Cupid was watching at approximately 10:30 p.m., he would have seen Reverend Francis P. McCartin O.M.I. crowning the King and Queen of Hearts.

Center: Mrs. Thaddeus Wolinski serves the swains.

Right: "Crazy man, crazy!" Bruce Beebe and Marilyn Huffman.

A s s e m b l i e s

This year the classes and homerooms were urged to take part in assemblies. The girls jumped at the chance to show their talents publicly.

The freshmen gave a pageant pointing out the importance of visits to the Blessed Sacrament.

The modern history class gave a musical portrayal of history students in a New England girls' school.

"The facts and nothing but the facts" were given in the case of the "Cataline Murder" by the Latin III class.

The Senior Class gave a burlesque on characters from history, literature, and art. Commendable, girls, commendable!!!

Right: Detective Susie Dwyer, accompanied by Kathleen Hoffman and Connie Kayser, trace the clues.

Junior-Senior Prom

As the "evening breeze caressed the trees" on the evening of April nineteenth, nineteen-hundred and fifty-four, juniors and seniors with their escorts gaily made their way to the Woman's Building. Our Blessed Mother looked smilingly down on the dancing couples in this Marian Year.

Left to right: Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Schnapp, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blazie, Mr. and Mrs. Avery Schlagheck, Dr. and Mrs. William Wiedemann, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Juhasz, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Downs, Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gormley, and Mr. and Mrs. Lou's Mack.

LET'S MAKE IT A PARTY!

Whether it's a basket picnic, a trip to an athletic event, a sight-seeing tour, or a more formal occasion, when you charter a bus you permit everyone to enjoy the trip from the time you leave until you are safely home.

Expensive? No, indeed. On the contrary you will find that compared with other forms of travel, Chartered Service is very reasonable.
